

This document does not cover all the information you need from your lawyer for the purposes of the case conference and your decision to plead guilty or not guilty.

Case Conferences for indictable matters in the Local Court

Explanation to legally represented accused if statutory utilitarian discount caps apply

- 1) The law requires me to explain to you that a plea of guilty entered in the Local Court can reduce the sentence you get in your matter.
- 2) Decisions you make during the case conference may affect the sentence you receive if you plead guilty to one or more of the offences you are charged with, or if you are found guilty at trial.
- 3) If you plead guilty, the court takes a number of factors into account in deciding the appropriate sentence. One of those factors is called the 'utilitarian discount'. This is a discount you get off your sentence because you contribute to the efficiency of the criminal justice system.
- 4) The size of the discount depends on when you enter the plea or when your lawyer tells the prosecution in writing that you will be pleading guilty.

The Discounts

- 5) Unless you fall under an exception, if you plead guilty to an offence, the discounts are:
 - a) 25% if you plead guilty in the Local Court,
 - b) 10% if you plead guilty up to 14 days before your trial is set down to start, and
 - c) 5% if you plead guilty less than 14 days before your trial is set down to start, or during the trial.

Exceptions to the Discounts

- 6) The court may decide not to give you the full discount, or any discount, if:
 - a) you dispute the facts for sentence and you lose that dispute, or
 - b) the court decides your culpability in committing the offence was extreme.
- 7) There will be no discount at all if the offence has a maximum penalty of life imprisonment and the sentencing court decides that a life sentence is appropriate.

What if the prosecution amends a charge, or adds a new charge, after committal?

- 8) After you are committed for trial, the prosecution may change some of the details of the charge (amends the charge) or lay a new charge. If 'as soon as practicable' after that happens, your lawyer tells the prosecution in writing that you will plead guilty to that amended or new charge, you are entitled to the 25% discount, except:
 - a) if you have already refused a written offer by the prosecution in the Local Court to plead guilty to the amended or new charge, or
 - b) if the amended or new charge is based on substantially the same facts or evidence as the original charge and the maximum penalty is the same or less than for the original charge.
- 9) If your lawyer did not tell the prosecution in writing 'as soon as practicable' after the charge was amended or laid that you intended to plead guilty, then the discount will be:
 - a) 10% if you plead guilty up to 14 days before your trial is set down to start,

- b) 5% if you plead guilty less than 14 days before your trial is set down to start, or during the trial.

What if the prosecution rejects an offer by you to plead guilty to a different offence than the one charged, and at trial you are found guilty of that different offence?

- 10) The discount will be 25% if:
 - a) when you are in the Local Court, your lawyer tells the prosecution in writing that you will plead guilty to an offence which is different to the one charged,
 - b) the prosecution rejects your offer, and later you are found guilty of that different offence at trial, or an offence that is reasonably the same as the different offence (because the facts are capable of constituting the different offence and the maximum penalty is the same or less than the different offence), and
 - c) you did not withdraw the offer before being convicted of the different offence.
- 11) The discount will be 10% if your lawyer tells the prosecution in writing that you will plead guilty to the different offence after you are committed for trial and up to 14 days before your trial is set down to start.
- 12) The discount will be 5% for a plea of guilty, if your lawyer tells the prosecution in writing that you will plead guilty to the different offence less than 14 days before your trial is set down to start, or during the trial.

What if the prosecution rejects an offer by you to plead guilty to a different offence from the one charged and later accepts the offer?

- 13) The discount will be 25% if:
 - a) when you are in the Local Court, your lawyer tells the prosecution in writing that you will plead guilty to an offence which is different than the one charged,
 - b) the prosecution rejects your offer but later changes its mind and accepts the offer, and
 - c) you do not withdraw the offer to plead guilty to the different offence.
- 14) The discount will be 10% if you offer to plead guilty to the different offence after you are committed for trial and up to 14 days before your trial is set down to start, and the prosecution later accepts the offer.
- 15) The discount will be 5% if you make an offer to plead guilty to the different offence less than 14 days before your trial is set down to start or during the trial, and the prosecution later accepts the offer.
